Famous Quote Quiz

General information:

In the famous quote quiz game system will ask questions and user should try to pick a correct answer. Depending on selected mode user will have to choose correct answer from a list of answers, or simply to answer with Yes/No to the question.

Task:

Please, create new Apache Cordova Application, which will has:

1) Main page - shows a famous quote quiz

2) Settings toogle — allows switching between modes.

The user has to guess who the author of the quote is.
The application can function in 2 modes (has two pages):

a) Binary (Yes/No) — this is the default mode

b) Multiple choice questions — showing three possible answers, one of which must be the right one.

Regardless of the currently selected mode, if the user clicks on the right answer a message is displayed "Correct! The right answer is: …."; if the user clicks on the wrong answer a message is displayed "Sorry, you are wrong! The right answer is: ….". Then the answer options disappear and the author name is displayed below the quote. Additionally a button 'Next' appears below the author name. When the user clicks 'Next' they are navigated to the next quote where they can guess the next quote.

to receive the questions data, you can use https://github.com/profjordanov/FamousQuoteQuiz API. In the readme file you will find how to run the application. of course you are able to use another data provider or just a static collection.

In the following pages, you can see how the application needs to Look.
